“The 3 Crosses and Jesus’s Kingship”

1. Jesus is the only King who began His reign on the throne of death, namely, the Cross. Pretty amazing - not the way we would have done it! The Lord Jesus did not merit his Cross and death, which is the fruit of sin, but He voluntarily accepted it for our sake. He took on our sufferings, even the ultimate suffering of death, in order to redeem everything and open once again the Gates of Heaven for the human race. As St. Paul today puts it so well, “He made peace between us and God through the blood of His Cross.” His Cross is the Redemptive Cross.
2. By contrast the bad thief, as he is traditionally called, fully merited, or brought about, his cross because of his evil deeds in life, but tragically drew no profit from it. His was a lost cross, without any purifying effect. He lashed out at Jesus on his cross instead of repenting of his sins. Sadly many people still draw no profit from the crosses of life, wherever they come from: either from God’s Providential permitting will or from His ordaining will. As Venerable Archbishop Fulton Sheen once put it so well, “there is nothing more tragic than wasted suffering.” Why? We see the answer in the 3rd Cross.
3. The good thief certainly merited his cross. He was not hanging there because he had lived a most virtuous life. In fact, quite the opposite, as he points out to the bad thief as they are hanging on the Cross with Jesus, “Have you no fear of God, for you are subject to the same condemnation? And indeed we have been condemned justly, for the sentence we received corresponds to our crimes....” The cross he was hanging on was a punishment; yet, he was able to make it purifying and an act of reparation by uniting His contrite heart to Christ and His redemptive Cross: saying: “Jesus, remember me when you come into your kingdom.” Do we do the same in our lives? Are we like the good thief or the bad thief? Do we complain about our sufferings (crosses) or offer them in union with Christ in reparation for our sins and the sins of others? The grace is there to do so, if we ask God for help with a humble heart. “This day you will be with me in Paradise.”

This is the big question of life: How do we deal with the crosses, or sufferings, of this earthly life? It all comes down to how much we have made Christ the King of our lives: the more He reigns in our lives, the more we unite our crosses with Him and bear holy spiritual fruit through the blood of His Cross, as St. Paul says. We need to ask ourselves today: IS CHRIST TRULY THE KING OF OUR LIVES? Is He truly reigning over all aspects of our lives? Our work life? Our family life? Our social life? Our interior life: of imagination, heart, and intellect? Our relationships? Our sexuality? Our money? etc. EVERYTHING! He must be the King of every aspect of our lives, if we want some day to reign with Him in His Heavenly Kingdom. Today is the day to look at this reality: what part(s) of our lives are we keeping Christ out of? And then to repent (turn around spiritually), like the good thief, and allow Jesus to reign there. He is waiting patiently with His merciful love, especially in the Sacrament of Confession! And then the immediate blessing of this is: the more we invite Christ to rule over every aspect of our lives, the more interior peace and freedom we will have, and begin to taste the gift of Heavenly life, even now. Why? Because our hearts were made for the Lord and our hearts are restless until they rest in Him (see St. Augustine's Confessions). Let us today, with St. Paul, "Give thanks to the Father, who has made you fit to share in the inheritance of the holy ones in light. He delivered us from the power of darkness and transferred us to the kingdom of his beloved Son, in whom we have redemption, the forgiveness of sins." Jesus wants us someday to be in Paradise with Him. But remember this will be only become a reality, if we invite Christ to be the King of our lives! God bless you.

Recommended reading: The 3 books below are unfortunately right now out of print, but can sometimes be purchased at: www.amazon.com or www.loomebooks.com.

They are great spiritual books, so if you can ever get a copy of them, it worth the price even if it is a bit on the costly side.
